

For life to be worthy

is to know

great tasks of which one urgently wishes to be capable but cannot yet know if he is capable.