

We'll Be Reminded

of happenings we anticipate in which we cannot participate, and we cannot resist remembering that we will be alone in this,

among all those we know.

So they cannot care as much as we.

At least not yet.

It doesn't seem to matter
that their turns are coming too.